FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MBA Board of Directors Welcomes John Paul Busse of F.J. Busse Company, Inc.

October 12, 2020

Pittsburgh, PA – Master Builders' Association (MBA) announced the appointment of John Paul Busse to its Board of Directors. The MBA Board of Directors unanimously approved Mr. Busse to fill the term of his father, John C. Busse, who passed in August of this year, having served as a member of the MBA Board of Directors since 1997.

John Paul has been president of F. J. Busse Company, Inc. for the past 10 years. F.J. Busse Company is a Pittsburgh based, family owned business in operation since 1926. This fourth-generation business was founded by John Paul's great grandfather, Francis Joseph Busse, who was a bricklayer by trade. John Paul has been involved with the family business for over 35 years, starting out as an apprentice carpenter and working his way up through the administrative side of the business. In addition to his role as president, he is also the chief estimator and in charge of project management, where he is actively involved with all aspects of construction and operations.

“We pride ourselves on our commitment to quality craftsmanship and our ethical business practices. We are also very much a hands-on general contractor. We approach every project with an attitude of how we can best serve our customers and I believe that is the reason we have fostered so many long-term business relationships over the years,” said John Paul.

F.J. Busse is signatory to the Carpenters, Laborers, Drywall Finishers, and Cement Masons unions. The commercial and institutional market are its primary focus.

MBA is pleased to welcome John Paul to the Board of Directors.
