Peer Coaching Can Help -----

By definition, peer coaching is a type of helping relationship where two people of similar status participate in helping the other through a task or problem. Our Peer coaches provide non-clinical peer support to help engage, educate, and support you on your recovery journey. Often, peer coaches have been on their own recovery path, so they understand the stress and anxiety of what you are going through.

• We can help you wherever you are in your recovery journey.

Virtual peer coaching offers the power to choose comfortable, private locations for support. You can speak to your peer coaches within the privacy of your own home and receive convenient and discreet support. Peer coaching provides guidance, no matter where you are in the recovery journey, and mobile devices offer the flexibility of speaking with a peer coach around your schedule.
